CONFERENCE PREVIEW

MESSAGE FROM THE SPEYP PROGRAMMES COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN

DEAR YPS,

I am pleased to introduce to you this year's YP Workshop and Summit. The location and Themes were carefully chosen to reflect the young professionals' ideology. They are also multi-dimensional programmes designed to meet the needs of all YPs. The Theme addressing how to close the gaps of emerging challenges in the oil&gas industries and also the Local content implementation in Nigeria are the focus of this workshop and summit. We have also carefully chosen seasoned senior professionals to help deliver presentations and enlighten us on these issues. There is an ice-breaker on day one; The Away DAY at the Oniru private beach and a visit to the Lekki Market of art and craft promises to be fun.

I invite you to register yourself, friends and spouses for this great event it promises to be worth your time.

We look forward to your presence at the workshop as you seize this unique opportunity to interact with other young professionals and senior professionals in the industry.

Kindest regards,

ADEBOLA BADA

Date: August 01, 2014

Topic: Addressing the local content implementation in the oil and gas industry

Lead panellists: Engr. Ernest Nwapa – Executive Secretary, NCDMB

Support panellists:

Udom Inoyo – Director HR, Exxon Mobil

Dr. David Ige – GED G&P, NNPC

Austin Avuru – MD/CEO, Seplat

Theme. Addressing the local content implementation

New Government regulations based on the Nigerian Oil and Gas Industry Content Development Bill of 2010 stipulates that for all works and contract to be undertaken in or on behalf of all companies operating in the Nigerian oil and gas industry, certain stipulated number of Nigerian Content must be achieved. To this end a number of processes have been put in place to ensure the success of this goal, including a contract evaluation and award criteria which favours bids that meet or exceed minimum local content target , as well as level a list of work categories that must be executed. This session would address the challenges facing Nigeria effective implementation of this policy as well evaluate the progress made so far.

SUMMIT 2

Date: August 01, 2014

Topic: Bridging the Gap; Taking up leadership roles

Lead panellists: Joseph Ofili – Engineering Manager, SEPLAT

Support panellists:

Okey Okoli – Country Tech. Manager, Halliburton

Engr. Dr. John Ugbebor – Senior Lecturer, UNIPORT

Bridging the Gap. Taking up leadership roles in the oil and gas industry

Taking up leadership role over any project, group or organization is a great undertaking. You will have a whole new set of responsibilities put on your shoulders, as well as many new problems that have never seen before. This is often a tough, position for anybody to be in, especially if your company has been struggling with some of problems at the time. For young professionals, this can be a daunting task because not only do inhabit a low spot in the office hierarchy and lack experience and skills, but also many are too timid and insecure to assume a leadership role. But with the right attitude, an observant eye and a desire to learn any young professional can prevail early on.

LECTURE

Date: August 01, 2014

Topic: Closing the Gap – Empowering the YPs to address the emerging challenges in the Oil and Gas Industry

Presenter: Cletus Egbuzie – GM OTSS, ExxonMobil

The global oil and gas industry today is besieged by numerous challenges that cut across national boundaries and region. These include a number of factors including changing geopolitical relationships, dynamics of demand and supply, demographic shifts, environmental and social pressures as well as the emergence of new competitors and competition. However, one challenge stands out among the pack: The need to meet global demand for energy which is increasing dramatically, driven in large part by population growth and the strong desire of developing countries to achieve economic prosperity.

This lecture seeks to discuss the “why” and the “how” in empowering young professionals to address these challenges as it affects the oil and gas industry, especially in Nigeria.

The speaker is currently the General Manager of Operations Technical Subsurface in Exxon Mobil, where he has the functional oversight of the Reservoir Engineering and Subsurface (Completion) Engineering Departments. He brings over 30 years of experience in leading and managing personnel and the use of technology in well operations and reservoir engineering.

Cletus earned his first degree with Honors in Natural Gas Engineering from Texas A&M University and a Master Degree in Petroleum Engineering from the University of Oklahoma. Until his current position, he has held various technical and managerial positions in Nigeria and Texas.
