QUESTIONS: email executivedirector@ssr.org
How did being a member of SSR impact your career development?

I was fortunate to be a part of SSR from the beginning of my graduate career through my postdoctoral work, and now in my first industry position. I have formed many friendships with fellow SSR trainees who I remain in contact with today, and have met many professors who have provided guidance throughout the years. SSR was a wonderful opportunity to speak about both scientific research and overall career goals/options. I am happy that I have been able to stay in the reproductive field and look forward to continuing to be a part of SSR.

How has the SSR affected your training?

Attending the SSR meetings allowed me to interact with the best scientists in my field of research and to get their insights about my work. In addition, I could expand my network that eventually helped me to jump into the next step on my career path.

SSR-trained students are exposed to top-edge research and technologies aimed at improving reproduction in humans and animals, and that experience is certainly an advantage when competing for industry positions.

What attracted you to join SSR?

Attending the SSR annual meeting was a key opportunity to:
- learn about the latest, often not published yet, development of my research area,
- present and discuss my results with the reproductive biologist community,
- be exposed to a variety of related topics and to have a better idea of the big picture of the field, and
- meet and network with my generation of students/fellows across the world, as well as with the key scientific leaders of the field.

What was your best experience at a SSR conference?

I remember attending the mentor luncheon and really enjoyed talking to experienced scientists about their career paths and how they got there. It opened my eyes for the possibilities of different career options for a basic scientist like me. It also amazes me how much all these mentors loved their research and how passionate they are about it.
