Katrina Claghorn is the Advanced Practice Clinical Dietitian Specialist at the Abramson Cancer Center of the University of Pennsylvania. She is a Registered Dietitian Nutritionist. She developed the nutrition counseling program at the Abramson Cancer Center where she works with both Radiation Oncology and Medical Oncology patients. Over the years, she has overseen the nutritional care for all cancer types. Her practice also includes wellness nutrition, complementary and alternative nutrition therapies, and weight loss counseling and she completed the Certificate of Training in Adult Weight Management from the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics. She is also a contributor to OncoLink the University of Pennsylvania’s cancer website.

Katrina is comfortable speaking to professional and members of the public on topics including gastrointestinal cancers (including PERT), head and neck cancer, and cancer protective nutrition.