THE EVENT
The oncology registered dietitian/nutritionist (RDN) is the key multi-disciplinary team member to address nutrition issues that patients with cancer experience.

The oncology RDN supports patients with cancer by utilizing their expertise to suggest appropriate products that best meet their individual nutrition needs. We anticipate more than 400 oncology RDNs will attend. Our members work with NCI, University, and Community Cancer Centers across the country.

EXHIBITS
The symposium will feature a dedicated exhibit hall with 10’ X 10’ booths. Exhibitors will have time to interact with attendees during meals, breaks, and the poster reception.

Attendees will be invited to visit exhibit booths and collect stickers on a card in order to be eligible for prizes, which helps increase booth traffic.

Corporate sponsorship program principles

In addition, the ON DPG adheres to the following:

1. All sponsorships are reviewed and approved by the Academy of Nutrition. A summary of ON sponsors can be found in the annual report on the website www.oncologynutrition.org.

2. ON DPG sponsorships are limited to those that promote products and services related to oncology nutrition.

3. All sponsor materials, presentations and information and claims are to be referenced, and are subject to review.

4. Novel products, therapies, and treatments are to be clearly identified as investigational.

5. The ON DPG maintains editorial control and final approval of all sponsored materials and sponsored programs. Revisions and clarifications may be required prior to acceptance. Each promotion may be limited to word count, size of picture, etc.

6. The ON DPG does not endorse any company, brand or company products. The ON DPG programs, leadership, decisions, policies and positions are not influenced by sponsorship.

7. Education materials that are part of CPE content (such as slides, handouts, etc.) must not contain any logos, trade names, or product group messages or images.
