We continue to grow as an organization. We launched three new chapters in 2023 (Belgium, Austin, and South Carolina) and have more than a dozen new chapters in the pipeline. Your support for WWCDA promotes diversity in the white collar field and helps the Association finance its many activities. WWCDA events include the iconic Annual Attorney Meeting, the marquis WWCDA Awards Gala, the London Summer Reception held in conjunction with the annual GIR Women in Investigations conference, the Global Enforcement and Compliance four part series, the London Fall Lunch Program held in conjunction with the annual ABA London White Collar Conference, WWCDA committee events/activities and the monthly virtual gathering WWCDA Watercooler, which provides an open forum to share ideas, ask questions, brainstorm, vent, laugh, and connect with other WWCDA members, sponsors and friends. WWCDA offers 33 initiatives that help meet our mission to advance women in the field. Details here. These same events and initiatives, plus more will be held in 2024.

WWCDA's two signature and regularly sold-out in-person events – the iconic Annual Attorney Meeting in March and the marquis star-studded Awards Gala in December showcase the value of WWCDA and our mission. The WWCDA Awards Gala celebrates giants in the white collar field who have championed women. The 2023 winners included U.S. Deputy Attorney General Lisa Monaco, Judge Beryl Howell, and Microsoft. The speakers included three Chief Legal Officers of major corporations. Previous Galas have featured U.S. Supreme Court Justice Ketanji Brown Jackson, UK's SFO Director, the CEO of Goldman Sachs, the Chief Legal Officers/ Chief Compliance Officers of Google, Salesforce, the NFL, Olympus, Merck, Goldman Sachs, Petrofac, and Novartis, and a Former U.S. Solicitor General, SEC Chair, three U.S. Attorney Generals, two U.S. Deputy Attorney Generals, Chief of the Criminal Division, SEC Chief of Enforcement, the Chairs of several major law firms, NPR's Nina Totenberg, and a performance by Elton John's keyboardist. See the pictures, videos and learn more about these inspirational, fun, and entertaining events at wwcda.org/event/awards-program.

In addition to the WWCDA Awards Gala, the WWCDA Annual Attorney Meeting, held in conjunction with the annual ABA White Collar Conference, is the "hottest ticket" to obtain. The 2023 Annual Meeting was our largest group ever with more than 400 members (and dozens on the waitlist) and sponsors participating in engaging, interactive discussions around WWCDA initiatives and extensive networking activities.

WWCDA has many other initiatives that help promote diversity in white collar defense. We have robust virtual programming on the WWCDA Watercooler series and through committee-hosted events. We provide members-only tools where women can learn, network, share, ask for help, and make business referrals to each other. WWCDA successfully places women on panels at conferences and other events and promotes the professional accomplishments of our members and sponsors on social media and the wwcda.org website. WWCDA uses the size and strength of our organization to work toward having more women be included in the rankings of top professionals—rankings that we know prospective clients rely upon in choosing who to hire. WWCDA also helps women be placed in monitor and receivership roles. We have a mentorship program for our members. We publish regular newsletters about WWCDA, chapter activities, and the accomplishments of women, and we pursue Thought Leadership activities that showcase the experience and qualifications of women in the field. We do member spotlights in the newsletter and on the home page of wwcda.org. We also partner on dozens of conferences with other organizations so that our members receive a discount to attend, and we can place members in speaking roles. Details here.

Our website and WWCDA Connect provide a number of ways to keep our members and sponsors connected, globally and by chapter. WWCDA Connect has several features for members and sponsors, including password-protected resource material and information about WWCDA events, initiatives, and other activities. The WWCDA Forum (listserve), which is part of WWCDA Connect, provides strong connections, business referrals, job openings, educational and other professional discussions, and announcements about WWCDA events and activities.

Our sponsors can participate in the many WWCDA programs and initiatives. We encourage member/sponsor collaboration throughout the year. We have a Sponsors Forum where sponsors and attorney members of WWCDA can conveniently communicate with each other. We also have a sponsors@wwcda.org email where sponsors can send requests or ask questions privately to the team of WWCDA members assigned to work directly with our sponsors. These activities help to facilitate women working together, staying connected, and finding additional ways for WWCDA to partner with our sponsors. We look forward to exploring more collaborating ideas with our sponsors in 2024.
