ABOUT WWCDA

The Women’s White Collar Defense Association (WWCDA) promotes the common business and professional interests of attorneys and other professionals whose clients include companies, other organizations and individuals in connection with the wide-range of white collar government investigations and enforcement actions (criminal, civil, regulatory, and administrative), internal investigations, compliance and ethics counseling, and related matters. WWCDA promotes inclusion for all legal and consulting professionals in this field, including organizing professional activities to facilitate networking and business development opportunities, and providing educational programming relevant to the field.

“Women and men working together to create more inclusiveness in the profession creates a powerful force in the white collar bar.”

—KAREN POPP, Global Chair and Co-Founder of WWCDA

OUR HISTORY

The Women’s White Collar Defense Association was founded in the late 1990s with the mission to promote equal opportunity in the field of white collar defense practice, including in providing networking and educational programming.

Today, WWCDA has thousands of members in dozens of chapters throughout North America, South America, Europe, Latin America, and Asia Pacific.

Many of our members have served in government positions and corporate roles. Notable members include former corporate General Counsels and Chief Compliance Officers, as well as former prosecutors and high-ranking government officials.
